American Legion

AMERICAN LEGION

Two hundred charter members have been enrolled in the American Legion through the drive which is now progressing, according to latest statistics. This mark had been reached by the time the drive was completed Saturday, but the enthusiasm among the ex-service men of the city took a leap causing the campaign committee to set a goal of 250 for the week. At this rate, the 400 figure set as the membership for the next meeting, December 2, should be reached easily. Many of the men who have signed up are employed at the Samson works.

There will be no let-up in the efforts of the membership canvassers. Their plan is to get every possible man into the Legion as possible. Even 400 members is considered a low figure for a town of this size, where there are so many young men employed in the various industries, who, it is believed have seen service of one kind or another. What is its Constitution?

Numerous inquiries have come from men who, before signing an application for membership, ask, "What is this constitution of the American Legion to which I am requested to subscribe?" It is printed below. Read it and then express your approval by signing the membership blank get every possible man into the Legion as possible. Even 400 members is considered a low figure for a town of this size, where there are so many young men employed in the various industries, who, it is believed have seen service of one kind or another. Isabellas Give "Mixer Frolic" For Newcomers

(BY PEG O'BRIEN)
Joe Weber bowed them in at the door, Mrs. Charles Cox and Mrs. Joe Weber greeted them at the head of the stairs, and Mrs. Josephine Cunningham and Miss Irene Boos tagged them—and once within the hall formally ceased.

Isabellas were hostesses last evening to nearly 200 guests, many of them newcomers to the city. Aprons was the preferred attire for the girls and their best beaux were rustic in their attire.

One of the committee before activities were in progress suggested a spiral handshake to get "chummy" but this suggestion was abandoned when it was seen how well they mixed without any lubricant. Long before the evening was over an acute observer could single the new friends from the old.

The K. C. club rooms were thrown open for the mixer frolic. The girls were keen for dancing played at billiards or cards. This won over many of the men who feeling constrained in their own homes retired to more familiar surroundings.

As always at these get together frolics, dancing was the feature of the evening. The girls were keen for dancing played at billiards or cards. This won over many of the men who feeling constrained in their own homes retired to more familiar surroundings.

Country Fiddler Appeared
Then the country fiddler appeared and the "gate" act was on. One young husband shamed his wife when he without any effort ate six doughnuts. She dangerously remarked that he looked as if he never had his home.

Dancing Was Continued
Dancing continued with a Rye was the starter. The younger folks found their way through the on jazz time rather confusing but, game-like, they didn't give up. Then the older dancers sprung another sports when they announced a Redowa but the young "uns" nothing daunted syncretized that too.

"Tenshun" folks, your indebted for the tips for your good time to Mesdames Thomas Hayes, Joseph Weber, Charles Cox, Edward Hemming, Josephine Cunningham, and Miss Irene Boos of the Daughters of Isabella.

County Passes Half Way Mark in Drive
Rock county is well past the half way mark in its efforts to reach the quota of $30,000 each year for five years in the campaign of the Wisconsin Colleges Associated according to reports received from the various sections of the county this morning. All districts are pressing the work hard.

Reports from state headquarters quote $40,000 as the amount raised which does not include work accomplished after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The city of Milwaukee, which was unable to start the drive when other cities did, is well under way now and reports indicate good progress.

Mr. Melvin A. Brannon, president of Beloit college, who had gone to Kenosha to address a meeting of workers there has met at the station a delegation of business men, bankers, lawyers and others who were ready to underwrite their quota of $160,000. Enthusiasm was expressed among all workers.

Edgerton C. of C. Selects W. B. Doty as New Secretary
Edgerton, Nov. 20.—At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held last night the resignation of Harvey Raymond as secretary was accepted and William B. Doty appointed to the position. Mr. Raymond has been the secretary of the club from its inception and his handling and recognized executive ability has been a factor in furthering the best interests of the city. His successor has been much in the public eye.

The Stewart Jewelry company is preparing to vacate its present quarters in the building formerly occupied by the General store. A new front will be built and other changes made in the interior to meet the needs of the new occupants. The city of Milwaukee, which was unable to start the drive when other cities did, is well under way now and reports indicate good progress.

FOR THE CHRISTMAS SHOPPER.

Local banks now have the new "Baby Bonds" of the United States treasury—the $100 and $1,000 treasury savings certificates. These "marvels of finance," as Secretary of the Treasury Glass has seen fit to term them, are available for the Christmas shopper. When the Liberty loan campaigns were on those government securities were used by thousands of people as yuletide gifts. These new "Baby Bonds" have many attractive features and the banks of the seventh Federal Reserve district saw at once the investment value, but the government wants these securities distributed as widely as possible among the people for the sake of the country's financial prosperity, as well as that of the individual.

Here are six reasons why Secretary Glass called the $100 and $1,000 Treasury Savings certificates the "marvel of finance":

They carry valuable tax exemption privileges. They cannot depreciate in value, not being subject to market fluctuations. They are a liquid investment redeemable in cash on ten days' notice. They yield a substantial income, actually more than 4 1/2 percent. They are short term, maturing January 1, 1924. They represent absolute safety as obligations of the United States government. The price of the $100 certificate in November is $84.40; in December, $84.60. The $1,000 certificate in November costs $844; in December it will be $848.

The new certificates are issued only in registered form with the name of the owner written in at the time of the purchase. The registration records are kept at Washington by means of stubs taken from the certificates and forwarded by the agent (issuing the certificates). This registration feature is a protection to the purchaser.

One of the best reasons for investment in these government securities at the present time is this point—the full value of the dollar invested. A dollar now, in purchasing power, isn't worth much more than 50 cents compared with five years ago. That dollar is bound to get back to its 100 cents. If a dollar, therefore, is invested now, it will be worth twice as much by the time these Treasury Savings certificates mature in 1924.

Do your Christmas shopping early and it will cost less. There is a difference of two dollars in the November and December price of the $1,000 certificate. The difference in cost of the $100 certificate is 20 cents.

LET'S BE FAIR TO THE TEACHERS.

How niggardly the public has been in paying some of its most important workers is well illustrated by a bit of news from New York. There, we are informed, the pay of a number of the married members of the faculty of the College of the City of New York is too small to enable them to maintain homes. They are obliged to seek accommodations with relatives, in order to live.

The way in which the needs of many of our teachers are forgotten and overlooked is shameful. The principal need of mankind, after livelihood and the opportunity to live under an orderly government are assured, is education. Hardly any class of workers is more important to society. The patriotism, practical sense, and ideals of this country we owe largely to teachers, in country school houses as well as in university class rooms. America's present greatness is in considerable measure due to the influence of devoted, high-minded men and women in the teaching profession.

Unless teachers are better paid, standards must fall, because the ablest of the personnel will be attracted into other fields. The anxiety that today exists among teachers as to how they can make ends meet and maintain social standards, is great. We cannot afford to impair the efficiency of our teachers by keeping them worried and restless. Neither should we chance driving them into other work, or into the camp of the radicals. We need them too much.

THE COMING RAILWAYS.

Motor truck trains, using the highways of the country as the railroad trains use their rails, and using carefully timed schedules, will mean a big improvement in freight conditions here, and a drop in prices. So say traffic experts. Such motor truck freight handlers are being planned now by the motor men and likely will be a feature of spring.

With the rapid increase in improved highways, such motor truck routes will be able to operate at low costs, which, in the end, will mean lower resultant costs of products to the ultimate consumer. This means reduction in the high cost of living. That interests all of us.

The railroads of the country are taxed to their limit now to provide equipment for the great amount of freight now being thrust upon them. Extensions, additions and improvements are needed, but funds are not at hand for them. The country has gotten too large for its present system of railroads, and the only remedy is freight by motor truck.

Motor truck carriers are now operating in many sections, and operating successfully. Many packages now sent by freight, and necessitating long waits at the other end of the line, will, shortly, be sent by motor truck, in this way facilitating shipments, and making lighter the burdens of the railroads.

Motor truck freight on regular schedules is not far in the distance.

ANOTHER RECORD IN SIGHT.

Rock county is showing her usual good judgment in responding so generously to the call for funds for privately endowed Wisconsin colleges. Present indications point to an over-subscribed quota in the $5,000,000 campaign being waged.

Not only are citizens keen to provide opportunities for our young men and women, but they recognize the advantages in a material way of properly educating those who will take places in the business and social life of the state.

The showing thus far made is somewhat remarkable considering the fact that our people have been called upon to contribute to so many funds. It is safe to venture the opinion that when the final count is made, Rock county will be in the front ranks of those communities which have subscribed.

LET'S SLICK UP!

Attention has been called for the necessity of properly cleaning stoops in the business district every day. It might be well to go a step or two farther and make a concerted effort before snow flies to clean up the entire city. Citizens could join with the administration in doing this. Certainly a cleaner city would impress those

I'm willing to fight when I know I'm right, an' the fightin' is on the square. There are times I shirk when I ought to work, but I guess I am human there. who will visit us this winter. Janesville has a reputation to sustain. People all over the country have heard of the great progress we are making. We have been advertised more in the last year than ever in the history of the city. We should not disappoint those who come to look us over.

Judging from some of the refuse heaps that are to be found in our business district, especially behind bill boards and in other convenient places, it would behoove us to get out our civic dust-pan and broom and clean house.

Let us put on our best front when we have visitors. Concerted action in the next few days would greatly improve our appearance. We should send people away from us with the impression that Janesville is not only a bustling city, filled with live, prosperous folks, but it is a city that takes pride in its exterior appearance.

SEND PROFITTEERS TO PRISON.

"If the law is to have salutary effect at all, that can be accomplished only by the imprisonment of persons convicted of profiteering in the necessities of life."

These are not the words of an academic thinker, nor of a sensational reformer. They are the dictum of a federal judge in New York City, after hearing the jury's verdict of guilty after trial of two commission merchants accused of extorting 2 1/2 cents a pound for sugar for which they had paid only 9 1/2 cents. Such an indication of judicial alertness to public sentiment will be hailed everywhere by Americans disgusted with the utter failure of fines to reform such offenders.

The profiteer quails before a prison sentence. Punishment in these cases must be made exemplary.

Vinnie Ream's Studio

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director
Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—Five years ago today Vinnie Ream Hoxie, her modest studio in the red brick home on Farragut square is still kept as it was when she laid down her tools for the last time. She does the average passer-by at Seventh and K streets realize how near he is to the work room of one of the most prominent women in the history of American art and society, as the American spirit of success in surmounting the obstacles of obscure birth and poverty.

Her studio is a silent drama of her life far better than it can be told in words. Facing the door as you enter it is the head of a young girl modeled in clay. It is a lovely face, with a sensitive but strong mouth, Joan of Arc eyes, and finely chiseled features. It is a head of Vinnie Ream herself, and is in striking contrast to the rugged faces and heroic figures of the statesmen who surround it.

Taken to Sculptor.
The story of how this head was made is the story of how Vinnie Ream discovered her talent. It was by a lucky chance that her genius ever found its outlet. When she was 16 years old, and employed in the postoffice at Washington, a Major Rollins, who had been asked to obtain her photograph for the college she had attended, took her instead to Clark's studio, a sculptor. It was her first sight of a sculptor at work and filled her with a strange excitement.

"Why I could do that!" she exclaimed, and when Mr. Clark laughingly gave her some clay she succeeded in modeling a surprisingly good likeness of him. His amusement changed to interest when he saw her undoubted ability. He realized his responsibility in helping a girl who had no money to develop. And so Vinnie Ream, an obscure little postal clerk burning with the immortal fire of genius, began her career which was to make her world famous.

Every day for the next few years was filled with hard work and study. In the morning she still did as postal clerk, and in the afternoon she modeled under the instruction of Clark Mills, and far into the night she sat in her room, studying the work of her round rosy face grew thin and pale, she lost weight until she weighed only 90 pounds. But it was not the neglect of her health that she had found her reason for living, and her progress was marvelous.

It was at this time that she became seized with the desire to model Abraham Lincoln, who was then president. For a young, unknown girl who had no money to develop, this was a presumptuous ambition. But perhaps she realized intuitively that upon her rested the responsibility of preserving for his countrymen, more vividly than anyone else, the material representation of this man's strength and greatness of sympathy.

Lincoln's Room for Her.
At first Lincoln, who was occupied with the cares of war, and bowed down by the recent death of his son, refused absolutely. But when he was told that she, like himself, was a child of the people, that her ambition too must fight against the odds of obscurity, he consented to pose for her. Every day for the five weeks preceding his death she spent an hour in his study modeling him. It is remarkable that the model in her hands could have grasped so well the character of the man.

She herself said: "The one all-dominating impression I have always carried of Lincoln has been that of unathomable sorrow, and it was this that I tried to put into my statue."

She was very busy the day before he died, so, as she said, her portrayal of him represents the ultimate man. When a contest of all the best known sculptors of the country was held to choose a statue of him, little Vinnie Ream's model was selected. She was given a room in the capitol in which to create the heroic figure, and six years later was sent to Rome to superintend its being put into marble.

This time spent abroad meant much in the development of her work and the widening of her outlook, as many of the heads and photographs in her studio show. List, there, for example, the Cardinal Antonelli, and many notables posed for her.

One of the most interesting pictures on the studio wall is an engraving of Cardinal Antonelli in Latin, hanging near a photograph of an exquisite cameo. The story of these shows that her genius and the masculine strength of her work Vinnie Ream was quite feminine enough to realize the value of her charm as a beautiful and fascinating woman. While she was in Rome she wanted to model a bust of the cardinal, instead of resorting to the usual method of approach through influential friends she simply

I would become an autocrat. I'd just pass out advice. I'd solve all knotty problems. Without money, without price. I'd pose as one great financier. With John D. I'd raise hob. I could do all of that and more, If my wife had a job.

Dear Roy—When you feel you are without friends just begin writing your Christmas list, and you can recall two dozen in ten minutes. —Marguerite T. Tucker.

The other day a lady in a northern New York state town fell off the front porch. The lady's name was Mrs. Perkins. We mention it not because it makes any difference, but just as a guarantee of good faith. When Mrs. Perkins fell off the porch she scared the cat, and the cat, in the excitement, in the road hauling a load of potatoes. The team ran away and upset the wagon, tossing a two-bushel bag of fine potatoes into the air. The lady was very much embarrassed. Since that day every man in the block has had his wife fall off the front porch every time a team has come in sight. The moral of this seems to be that initiators seldom succeed. One must be an originator to make good.

Dear Roy—Glancing over the New York edition of the "Herald" I found a "MAN, FOUND SEITLESS, REFUSES TO TELL NAME." I'll say he would have to be superhuman, if he did.—W. W. Melane.

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Frederic J. Haskin. Questions will be answered on any subject. Those desiring information, may write a letter to the Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington D. C., and enclose a stamp. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

Q. Is it permissible to cut a stamp out of a stamped envelope and use it on a plain one? E. F. R.
A. The postoffice department says that this is not permissible. You may use a postal card with a printed envelope, but not a "stamped" envelope. The advertisement with plain writing paper.

Q. Who won the Pentathlon at the Inter-Allied games in Paris last July? R. M. L.
A. Robert Le Gendre, who is a student at Georgetown university, won the Inter-Allied Pentathlon, which consisted of a 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, running broad jump, javelin and hammer throw. He won the Inter-Allied Pentathlon at Philadelphia last summer.

Q. Will you give me a simple remedy for removing dandruff? S. L.
A. Warm borax water will remove dandruff. It has no general tonic effect, however, for the hair and scalp.

Q. Why are some people in Georgia and other parts of the south spoken of as "crackers"? W. D. C.
A. The word "cracker" is a so-called "poor white" of the south. The name is said to be applied because corn is their chief article of diet. As a matter of fact, the word "cracker" is of English blood which first settled in the south, and which is nearer the blood of the English of Queen Elizabeth's time than is any other in the world today.

Q. What poems were written by the poet laureate of England during the war? H. E. E.
A. Robert Bridges, poet laureate of England, has published the following poems since 1914: "Lord Kitchener," "Chivalry of the World," "The Heroic," "The Soldier," "The United States of America."

Q. What were the names of the Americans killed in the battle of Lexington? H. E. E.
A. The seven men killed at that battle were James Parker, Robert Monroe, Samuel Hadley, Jonathan Harrington, Jr., Isaac Tuzzey, Caleb Harrington, and John Brown.

Q. From what is the quotation, "Soprano, basso, even the contralto, heard him the anthems under the Rialto"? H. A. M.
A. This quotation is from Byron's "Beppo." The poem deals with a Venetian gondolier who was to criticize the performers at the opera, so they wished him buried under the Rialto.

Q. How many colored men have held the office of register of the treasury? J. W. D.
A. Four colored men have served in this capacity. They were: Stanche K. Hester, William H. Harrison, James C. Napier, and James W. Lyons.

Q. What is the size of the American forces in Siberia? A. E. E.
A. On October 14, 1919, there were 325 American officers and 7,555 enlisted men in Siberia.

Q. For what purpose was the Carnegie Hero Fund created? O. R. K.
A. This fund was established by Andrew Carnegie in 1904, to the amount of $5,000,000 for the benefit of those losing their lives in heroic efforts to save their fellow men, or for the heroes themselves if injured only. The fund is known as the Carnegie Hero Fund, and is placed in the hands of a committee consisting of 21 persons residing in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Q. Can a fourth class postmaster sit as a judge of an election board? E. J. B.

A. The postoffice department says that a fourth class postmaster cannot act as a judge on an election board. If a postmaster did act in such a capacity, and the matter was reported to the department, he would probably lose his position.

FATE OF TREATY IS LEFT WITH WILSON

(Continued from Page 1.) likely to be the hastening of the negotiation in Paris, leading to the ratification of the "process verbal" which will restore full commercial and diplomatic relations between Germany and the powers which have ratified the treaty. Paris dispatches have said this step was waiting, for one thing, on the action of the senate, but it is thought that it will be no further delay now for that reason.

COMMERCE RELATIONS REARRANGED

Once the other great powers have gone ahead with their establishment of full trade and diplomatic relations with Germany, officials say new arrangements will have to be made by the United States to fit into the commercial relations thus created.

Commerce Relations Rearranged. The state department is emphatic in its statement that no American consuls can be sent into Germany until peace has been definitely established between the United States and that country, and they declare only an imperfect trade relation can be built up without the consular officers who are in charge of the legal end of international trade.

A contrary view is held, however, by some of the senators who oppose ratification of the treaty. They believe that connection is the stand taken by Senator Knox, republican, Pennsylvania, who holds that by the ratification of the treaty, the United States is entering into a commercial intercourse with Germany by all of her late enemies as soon as the "process verbal" is signed.

In a military sense, the senate delay continues a state of suspended "hostilities". The war department officials, some of whom are turning over in their minds the possibilities of the situation should a peace treaty be signed, believe that a separate connection is necessary.

During the senate debate, Administration Leader Hitchcock declared that if the treaty failed and a separate connection became necessary the United States would find it awkward to attempt to exact drastic requirements from Germany.

Among republican senators this position has been ridiculed however, and in the war department it is said Germany is a "sensible" and "practical" nation, and that the United States should be prepared to deal with her as such.

John Quincy Adams Estate Cut Into Lots

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.) Quincy, Mass.—The need for housing is no longer respecting historic sites—an old estate in Quincy, Mass., is to be cut into house lots, thus inaugurating a land development scheme which will call for the construction of about 1,000 houses. This is called the Adams estate development, the property involved having been originally owned by the famous president and sold by a descendant after being in the family for generations. It contains more than 200 acres fronting on Quincy bay, part of Boston harbor, assessed for $267,000. The proposition involves five miles of new streets with the usual accessories.

OBITUARY

Word was received in this city today by Mr. and Mrs. F. Daly, Academy street, of the death of Clyde Daly, 7 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. KOBER REPRESENTS H. S. ON "Y" COUNCIL

Kenneth Kober, a senior in the local high school, has been appointed to represent his school in the world of the state high school council which is being organized by the efforts of E. W. Branderberg of the state U. M. C. The work of the representative is to keep in touch with all "Y" activities carried on in the state and to keep the local members acquainted with all plans and arrangements made to better work among the organizations. The appointment came to Mr. Kober through Frin. George Baasford of the high school and A. C. Preston, boys' secretary at the "Y". It is understood that the first meeting of the members of the high school council will be held in conjunction with the Older Boys' conference held at Sheboygan, starting Nov. 28.

Upper Peninsula Fears Deer Will Be Wiped Out

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—The greatest venison chase the upper peninsula has ever witnessed began recently. By noon of the opening day, 4,111 men had arrived with their guns and other equipment, compared with 2,028 at the beginning of last season. The season's total from lower Michigan was 3,504, this being the last season for hunting in the upper peninsula for some time to come. If each hunter here gets his deer, the wis will be so greatly depopulated of game that it will take several years to recuperate.

Famous Old Boston Tavern Closes Its Doors

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.) Boston.—An Alley bears a sombre atmosphere these "dry" November days. Passers-by enter the alley from newspaper row, try the door handle of the famous "Bell-in-Hand" saloon and turn away exclaiming: "Gash, the old Bell's closed!" In fact, the old tavern, established back in 1708 by "Old Jummy" Wilson, Boston town clerk, to combat New England rum and gin with ale and porter, now has succumbed to prohibition.

GRAIN

Chicago Review.
Chicago, Nov. 20.—Moderate declines in the price of corn today resulted from the acute weakness of British exchange and from breaking in the stock and cotton markets. Large receipts here acted also as a bearish influence. Good buying support, however, was forthcoming and a fair rally ensued. Opening prices which ranged from 52 to 53 1/2 and May 51 1/2 to 52 1/2 to 53 1/2 were followed by some fluctuation all around as compared with initial bottom figures.
Oats were relatively firm. Arrivals of oats proved to be scanty. After opening 42 to 43 1/2, the market closed at 42 1/2 to 43 1/2. The market was held up by some 700,000 bushels hardened quickly.
Provisions were mixed with hogs. Besides the foreign exchange collapse had a depressing effect.
Late in the corn market scored a general advance, helped by an upturn in stocks and by sales of American mixed corn in Great Britain at prices equal to $1.38 a bushel. The close was strong, 52 1/2 to 53 1/2, to 54 1/2, with December 51 1/2 to 52 1/2, to 53 1/2 and May 51 1/2 to 52 1/2.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I know the fellow that wrote to you about keeping his sister in school for a week in the same place. He sure is one grand kid. I only wish I were half as good.

I am sixteen and would have gone to school only my father made me quit two years ago and go to work. One of my sisters is going to leave home soon because she can't have any of the money she earns. They take all I earn, too. There are nine of us and I am next to the oldest.

I hate my home and my folks, too. For three weeks I have earned a dollar extra and kept it out of my pay. Last night I stayed out until midnight taking in movies and having a good time. When I got home my father was going to thrash me, but I got away. I don't think I need to stand that when I earn my own fourth of the expenses. He used to lick me real often, but I am nearly big enough to lick him now.

I can't have decent clothes or save anything or even have a good time. My sister will be of age soon, but she says I can't leave until I am twenty-one, and I don't think that is right. I should like to hear from you again so that I will know whether or not your conditions are improved. A letter from the other boy at the factory would give me pleasure, too. Give your address when you write again and I will reply with a personal letter if there is not space in the column.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am eighteen years old and have been going with a fellow thirty. He was very nice in some ways, but always talked about other girls and how pretty they were and how well they dressed. Then we would fuss.

Lately I have been going with a young man of twenty. My parents object and prefer the older man. I love the younger one and he loves me. What would you advise me to do?

I think you should give up the older man and keep the younger one for your friend. Your parents may prefer the older man because he is of a marrying age. You, however, are too young to marry and should enjoy the companionship of young men. The more nearly your age than thirty.

Report your case to the juvenile court. It is best to let the law decide your case so hard and reap only unkindness. Do not hesitate to take your trouble to court, because you will better enjoy the freedom of your brothers and sisters as well as

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY.

I used to think that women who had husbands, millions, homes and children must be so happy and contented that they ought to skip, jump, laugh and sing every minute, instead of moving about calmly like ordinary people.

It took me a long time to realize that the reason they did not live in a perpetual ferment of exultation was because they had different problems than other folks. And the reason they felt no different from other folks was because they were used to the wonderful things they had. There was no thrill in them.

Exultation comes from sudden, unexpected joys. These women had so much comfort, protection, wealth, love and leisure that there were no joys for them to be surprised by.

Moreover, they had not the Great Gift.

What is the Great Gift? Why, liberty! A complete and fearless freedom, the only thing that enables you to live, rejoice, exult and be perfectly sane.

These rich women didn't have liberty. They were slaves to convention, appearance, respectability, love, or comradeship, or an interest in life.

I may be a hysterical old fool. But since I wrote in my diary the other day that I was going to act freely, love my life, not somebody else's, solve my problems myself, and leave some one else to solve them for me, and keep this hold of my work, I have been happy as a lark.

I honestly believe that if Jim, suddenly deserted, friends forsaken, and I hadn't a dollar or a place to sleep, I should laugh with the joy of complete freedom. I would find work even if I had to be some one's housemaid. I would rebuild my life along lines of liberty. I would let nothing false and foolish stand in the way of my development. I would be guided by only one rule—not to do anything to harm others, or to harm myself.

Later, as if to mock at all my fine theories, Jim has just told me he has invited his mother to come and visit us. The effect upon my spirits was exactly the effect of a pinpoint jabbed into a top balloon. Jim is a quiet fellow, a fellow who says, "Well, I certainly never knew it to fall that if ever I had a particularly joyful spell of what Athena calls 'the will,' something disagreeable immediately happened."

"You don't seem very enthusiastic," commented Jim, when I remained silent at his wife's.

"I suppose I am selfish enough to want to be consulted in such little matters," I said, none too graciously. "Well, you wouldn't have objected, would you?"

"That has nothing to do with it, Jim. I don't see why you never take me into your confidence. Whether it's business, money, partners, a dwelling place or a visitor, you never think it necessary to talk it over with me."

"Do you ever discuss with me the friends you pick up, the work you undertake or the way you manage your—your love affairs?" returned Jim in a quiet voice that struck cold truth into my heart.

"But you have forced me to it, Jim," I answered, truthfully but ungenerously. "You have always withheld your confidence from me. I have only lately claimed the right to have interests of my own and manage them independently."

"In married life," replied Jim, slowly, "one generally has to choose between independence and happiness."

KINDA CHILLY, CATCHING COLD

Although numerous carefully conducted experiments on animals have been made in an effort to prove that exposure to cold and wet predisposes to infection of the respiratory tract—i.e., in simple words, renders the body more likely to take "cold"—the net result of these experiments has been unsatisfactory, questionable and somewhat confusing. The small number of experiments made upon human subjects—men with the hardihood to endure very uncomfortable cold, wet and exposure merely for the sake of the experiment—the conclusion has been rather against the notion that exposure predisposes especially to respiratory infections.

I must define "respiratory infection." Any disease which is communicable and whose causative germ or virus enters the body through the lining of the respiratory organs (nose, throat, bronchial tubes, lungs) is a respiratory infection. Included under this term are coryza, (common cold), influenza, acute tonsillitis, quinsy, acute laryngitis, bronchitis, pneumonia, influenza, diphtheria, the various infections and "grippe," epidemic cerebro-spinal meningitis, infantile paralysis (polio-myelitis), tuberculous, measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, mumps, probably chicken pox and smallpox. But people who speak of "colds" usually mean coryza, sore throat, laryngitis or influenza.

The obstinate fact is so difficult to get around in any discussion of the nature and cause of alleged "colds," is that a chill, or chills, is not a commonly experienced by the victim of a respiratory infection at the beginning of the illness, and it requires a master logician to convince him that a chill or chills is not a result brought on by the illness.

Still, we doctors must not be too severe on the poor lady. It was only a few generations ago that the profession, too, imagined that chills had an important etiological bearing, accordingly, that was before the communicable character of the respiratory infections known as "colds." The doctors had to be able to tell the patient even if there was none. If inescapably there we can resort to the old reliable expedient of jaw-breaking words or phrases and the poor layman turns away with a wan smile and a dizzy feeling.

Feeding the Baby.

I give my 4 months old baby 6 ounces at a feeding, every three hours, except at night. This formula: 16 ounces top milk, 7 ounces boiled water, 1 ounce lime water, 1 small spoonful of sugar. All the sweetened warm water she wants between meals. She sleeps well and seems healthy. But I am so afraid of "rickets." What are the symptoms of rickets? What is the best formula for a baby? Is my formula all right? She weighs 12½ pounds.

ANSWER—In warm water, not sweetened water, between meals. Whole milk, instead of top milk, from now on. Give her 16 ounces of milk and less water each week, until the baby takes straight milk at about 8 months. Orange juice is rich in vitamins, a few spoonfuls daily will prevent rickets. At 4 months add to the diet a little fresh mutton, chicken or beef broth every day or two.

Widow Supports Family On Fruits of 40-Foot Lot

Seattle, Wash.—This story of a woman who has supported her family on the fruits of a 40-foot city lot, she has kept this family in fresh vegetables and whole some foods during a period of three years, she has made the lot pay for itself and she has bought $1,000 worth of war savings stamps. All from a 40 foot city lot. She attributes her success to the raising of a variety of vegetables. Many kinds were planted, if only a few of each. She had 60 varieties of fruit which she exhibits here at a Playfield fair and her exhibit was clearly the feature of the fair. The 40 foot lot has a space reserved for chickens. Eggs are served each morning.

Injured at Football.

Neenah, Wis.—Harry Prange, quarterback on the army and navy club's football team, was made unconscious during a game with De Pere Sunday. His head was cracked and his foot broken. He is recovering.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

If there is any industry in the world today in which women have demonstrated their ability to compete successfully with men it is the motion picture industry. Although this industry has yet to celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary, there are only four great industrial branches of commercial life in the world today that exceed it in volume of business. Women have become a faculty in screen entertainments, but only recently have they shown a facility for writing photoplays. Among the most prominent is Clara Beranger, who in three years' time, from a novice has reached a position where her earnings are $75,000 a year, and it all came about through curiosity.

Herself a graduate of Goucher college, Baltimore, she specialized in domestic science. Her marriage turned her from a teacher's career to that of a housewife and her husband's helpmeet. Finding time from her duties of taking care of her house and raising her little girl, and being fond of the movies, she was curious to know whether or not she could write a story that would meet with the approval of picture producers. She tried it and sent the story to the very best company, and to her surprise it was accepted, and soon came a check for $250.

With feverish haste she wrote another and dispatched it by special delivery. It was accepted, and she was returned to her with the usual note of rejection. This did not discourage her. She wrote two more and these, too, were turned down. The fifth one brought her a check. From that time on she kept at the game, but meanwhile hired a servant to take care of the house while she spent her time in writing. She has contributed over 100 original screen plays without counting the numerous adaptations of popular novels and plays that have been made into her productions. Such famous stars as Marguerite Clark, Mary Miles Minter, Constance Tovey, Evelyn Grealey, Pauline Frederick, Madge Kennedy, and many others of equal importance have scored big hits with Mrs. Beranger's motion picture plays.

WOMEN BARRED FROM GOVERNMENT POSITIONS

Women were barred from 50 percent of the government positions for which examinations were held in the first six months of 1919, according to an official report made public recently by the woman's bureau of the United States department of labor. This statement covers examinations for 260 different types of positions, exclusive of manufacturing and mechanical positions in the ordnance factories, quartermaster depots, and navy yards, and exclusive of unskilled labor.

According to the report, women were not allowed to compete for 10 percent of the clerical positions. The complete report which will be made within a few weeks, it is stated by Miss Mary Anderson of Chicago, director of the woman's bureau, covers investigations which have been in progress for a month, and are being extended in response to a request from the national federation of federal employees recently in convention at San Francisco.

The second and larger section of the report will consist of an analysis of the salary scale of women in the government service, the requirements of the positions they fill and the specific inequalities in the pay they receive.

RECIPES FOR A DAY

Spinach.—Purify the line the bottom of a baking dish with conked spinach. Place on this eggs (one per person to be served) which have been boiled long enough to permit being shelled, but not cooked hard. Pour over the eggs and spinach a white sauce to which has been added one-half cup of grated cheese. Sprinkle buttered bread crumbs on top and bake in a moderate oven for twenty minutes.

Peas.—Either fresh or canned peas may be used. Arrange two halves of a pea on lettuce leaves. Fill the hollow where the core was removed with a mixture made of Philadelphia cream cheese and Marchionne cherries cut finely. Serve with mayonnaise or boiled dressing. Nuts may be substituted for the cherries, but are not so pretty.

Baked Ham With Apples.—The apples are considered as a vegetable in this menu. They are not only very plentiful at this season, but also have the finest flavor, so we use them every day in some form or other on our table.

Use either an inch-thick slice of ham or buy a cottage ham and slice it across the grain. Place the ham in a pan, cover with apples pared and cut in eighths. Sprinkle with brown sugar liberally over the top. Put about a half inch of water in the pan and bake for two hours in a slow oven. Have a cover on the pan until the last half hour.

TRY THESE

For mending hard, old-fashioned like metal or glass there is nothing more satisfactory than melted alum. Simply melt the alum over an intense heat and apply while it is molten. It will handle to a knife which has loosened was mended in this way many years ago, and has been in use ever since without breaking or loosening.

Pillow covers for baby's cart or carriage can be made of used all over embroidery. Sew around the cover or round cover two rows of beading. Draw pink or blue baby ribbon through and at each corner fasten a rosette of the ribbon. If necessary, it cut circular fasten live rosettes at regular intervals.

To make kid gloves look like new after they have been cleaned, rub over with white of egg.

Washing Won't Rid Head Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to use Selsun. It then will destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retting; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluff, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and never fails to do the work.

Milton News

[By Gazette Correspondent.]
Milton, Nov. 19.—Fifty members and guests attended the annual banquet of the Milton College Orphan society, which was held Saturday night in the basement of the Milton Seventh Day Baptist church. Besides members of the society now in college, many alumni were present from out of town.

Toasts were given by Ralph Holaday, Prof. F. Gregory Hall, Pres. William C. Daland, Arthur Mills, Richard Burdick, Maurice Ingham, and Wayland Coon. The quartet sang "The Cardinal Chorus," the society song. The program also included a solo by Miss Pearl Gardner and a duet by Miss Anna Post and Floyd Ferrell. Howell Randolph served as toastmaster.

The chaff talk address by cartoonist began at the S. D. B. church Wednesday afternoon, entitled "The Food Tax-Payer," gave excellent satisfaction to the small audience in attendance.

George Barnes, Milwaukee, spent Sunday with his parents.

Paul returned from his eastern trip Monday.

E. A. Wickwirth has sold his barber shop business to W. P. Johnson, who moved here recently from St. Paul, Minn. He takes charge Dec. 1.

Mrs. William Corbett, Milwaukee, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. H. D. Clarke.

F. P. Lewis, Janesville, was in town Monday to interview Pharmacist W. P. Clarke.

Dr. C. W. Post, Jr., Chicago, was in town this week.

Prof. J. N. Daland was elected vice president of the Latin League of Wisconsin colleges at the recent meeting of that body in Milwaukee.

BRINGING UP FATHER

GOLDFISH OFF FORM, BEATEN BY BELOIT FAIRIES BY 237

Janesville's star aggregation of bowlers, the Goldfish, sunk to the bottom of the sea last night when they were swallowed up by the waves of the Beloit Fairies in the third game of a series of matches between the two teams on the West Side alleys here. The visiting rollers walked away not only with every game of the match last night, but piled up a margin of 237 pins, the grand totals being 2,597 to 2,460.

Something was radically wrong with the locals last night; they were away off form, their average per man being down to 166. Fane had looked for a tight fight between the rival teams, each having beat the other by the margin of a very few pins. Another game will be played in the very near future, when it is hoped that Richards' quintet will be in better shape.

In last night's match, Perkins of Beloit, was high man with 206, with Messner rolling second for the Fairies at 200. For the Goldfish, Lamphere led with 201.

PARKER BOWLERS SHUT OUT VARSITY; GAZETTE TAKES TWO

That famous "lucky curve" was quite in evidence last night at the Arcade alleys when the Parker Pen quintet of the Industrial-Commercial league put the goods over on the Varsity Clothing company and captured three straight with a total margin of 365 pins in addition. The fountain pen lads, while their scores were not high, bowled a steady game, their opponents being more erratic. Skelly of Varsity made high of 194, 21 points ahead of Hjorth, runner up. Hjorth, however, made high average of 164.

In the other match of the night, the Gazette put over a beat of two to one on the Janesville Contracting company, overcoming the contractors in the second and third games. Howland ran high with 200, followed closely by Fire with 183. Fire also made the best average of 169.

Spilling 'em

The board of directors and the captains of all teams in the Janesville Bowling association will meet at the Arcade alleys at 7:30 tonight for a business meeting. This includes the City League and the Industrial-Commercial league. Matters of importance will be discussed.

Janesville High school is practicing hard for its game tomorrow with Walworth. The locals are looking forward to a victory. Players and fans will leave here at 2 o'clock. Game will start immediately after arrival.

The Samson basketball enthusiasts met again last night for practice. Indications are that the Tractor plant will have some promising material.

Overwork has again butted into the plans of the Samson Girls' Bowling league. Several games which were scheduled for nights of this week have had to be cancelled. Another cause is laid to other social engagements of the young women.

A round of the city shows some good material using the cue both in billiards and pool. How about a few good match games?

THREE TEAMS MAKE BOW IN SAMSON LEAGUE TOURNAMENT

With three teams making their debut last night at the West Side alleys, the Samson League rolls merrily on. Bowling for the first time in the race, the Accounting Department was overwhelmed by the Personnel Department by three games to nothing. The DuPont Service team lost two to the Waiters, one of them by the very close margin of three pins.

Gilham of the Personnel Department was high man in the game with the Accounting bunch scoring 182. Mawhine was second with 156.

YANKS TO GET DOE; AMERICAN LEAGUE BOARD TAKES STEPS

New York, Nov. 20.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the American league today a call was issued for the annual meeting of the members of the American league in this city Dec. 10. The annual meeting of the board of directors also was called for the same day, but two hours earlier.

President C. A. Comiskey of the Chicago club presided at today's session. H. H. Ruppert of Boston and Col. Jacob Ruppert of the local club were the other members present. President B. B. Johnson and J. C. Dunn of the Cleveland club did not attend.

After discussing the failure of the national commission to pay the Yankees their share of the world's series receipts, the board authorized the employment of counsel to take immediate action to secure the payment of the money to the players.

Col. Ruppert reported the progress of the committee appointed to nominate a new chairman of the national commission and President Johnson's refusal to meet his own appointee in conjunction with the national league members of the committee. Col. Ruppert was requested to submit his report in writing so that appropriate action could be taken on the matter at the board's meeting, Dec. 2.

A resolution was adopted which embodied a demand that the national commission turn over to the treasurer of the American league the sum of $25,000, a part of the 10 percent of the receipts from the world's series. It was said that a similar demand will be made by the National league, but this could not be verified tonight.

As You Were!

—BY—
BUCK
Of the STARS AND STRIPES A. E. F.

A WEIGHTY ARGUMENT
I never won a croix de guerre,
Nor any other decoration,
A palm or star or fourragers,
Nor yet a lithographed citation.

Sometimes I think my lot was tough,
My life was hard, my labor hateful;
I said Republics treat you rough,
Your country's hardly ever grateful.

What did the Army do for me?
I asked in accents cold and jeering,
The time I spent across the sea,
Were better spent in profiteering!

But now the snows of winter start,
And all about me, people shiver,
I feel a sudden change of heart,
My country's lapse I shall forgive her.

In snug content I glow and gloat,
For neither snow nor hail can harm me;
And for my O. D. overcoat
I'm very thankful to the Army!

Speaking of overcoats, ex-Sergeant SOL says you mustn't accuse every civilian in a trench-coat of being a former second looter. A lot of war-correspondents bought 'em, too.

EVERYMAN'S DIARY
You know how it is with newspapermen,
Their work keeps them up late.
Mine does.
So any time it makes me get up late,
So you can readily understand
That when the people next door
Got a practical rooster
That went off every morning at seven,
I considered that I was imposed upon.

I bore it.
Until the clocks were put back.
But the rooster wasn't.
And he went off at six.

So I called on the owner.
She or her snow nor hail can harm me;
And that Willy was very delicate,
And I might have retired in disorder
And said he knew a friend who would buy the rooster
For three dollars,
And if he had two dollars more
He would sell.

So I gave him the two dollars,
And he sold the rooster,
And with the profits
He bought a puppy
That howls all night.

FROM OUR PARIS CORRESPONDENT
Paris, Nov. 10, (Delayed).—A crisis which threatens to cause the closing of many cafes in the French capital was reached today, owing to the acute shortage of American Sergeant-Majors. Prices have already dropped to normal in several quarters.

THIS DATE IN HISTORY
1918.—Daylight saving in Germany ends. Clocks set back 60 minutes. American army crosses frontier. Watch on the Rhine set back 60 kilometers.

1919.—American Army of Occupation still trying to wind up the Watch and come home.

Tuesday morning, and went fast. The best the Cardinals can hope for, if Coach Stagg's men are downed, is fourth place in the "Big Ten" conference percentage list. The Badger eleven has developed some brilliant gridiron stars this year, and many students will go to Chicago to see the exhibition.

Dopesters will watch this battle closely as several of both teams are eligible for all western positions. After a limbering up process, by way of reviving the Badgers from last Saturday's grueling affair, Coach Richards put them through scrimmages against Chicago formations. Great interest is shown in the coming contest. Besides alumni and other Wisconsin backers who will assemble to see the teams last performance, 2,000 students will make the trip and a band of sixty pieces to enliven the affair.

Both teams are eager to crown their season with a win and the contest will be a fight from start to finish. It will be a game not surpassed by any seen in the conference this year.
